

HOW THE GIRAFFE GOT ITS NECK

A long time ago a grumpy and short Giraffe who lived in Africa on the plains where it was empty. He couldn't reach the reboem tree so he was starving. If his neck grew back it would be a miracle because he could die unless his neck grew back.

Soon later his friend the lion came and begged me to work and he said to him "where digging a hall so water can come in and we can have a drink," but I had to say no.

Later on the zebra went and pestered him to work but he had to say no and caped on teased me and I felt sad.

One morning this magic genie was rolling in the dust and he was speaking nonsense. "you can't make my neck go bigger," said Giraffe.

"Yes I can," replied the Genie.

"Ok, you can then so do it," agreed Giraffe.

"Ok I will, " promised the Genie.

"Go on then hurry up," yelled Giraffe. Giraffe thought that it wouldn't work but it worked and he was shocked. His neck grew as the time went by and they had a party because he can eat the leaves.
